TEN SLAIN THUS FAR IN U. S.-MEXICO BORDER WAR

100 SMUGGLERS SHOT DEAD BY PATROL

Hijackers and Rum-Runners Join Forces; El Paso Chief Asks for More Men

El Paso, Tex., July 22 (AP)—Official recommendation for a larger border patrol and the lifting of regulations prohibiting federal officers from firing at suspected rum runners attempting to cross the border at night may result from the slaying by rum runners, near here, of Juan Z. Scott, border patrol inspector.

Declaring it was almost impossible to send inspectors on patrol duty, H. C. Horeley, chief of the border patrol, indicated his report of the affair would contain such request. Scott, 36, a former Texas state trooper, was shot when a band of federal officers from El Paso, in a pitched battle one of the slain was known to have been killed, the officers reported. The remainder of the band escaped.

SMUGGLERS SLAIN
Scott was the fourteenth border patrolman killed on duty. Federal officers estimated that during the time the fourteen were slain, 100 or more liquor or alien smugglers have been killed in battles with federal men in the El Paso. The El Paso sub-district is said to be the most hazardous of any along the border.

The discovery of a Mexican's body in the sand hills west of El Paso just over the boundary in Mexico caused federal officers to believe that a war between rival liquor-hijackers is under way. The body was surrounded by several liquor cans, shot full of holes.

BOTH BATTLE PATROL
"Our men have frequently run into a gang of hijackers taking liquor from rum runners," Horeley said, "it is not unusual for both sides to join forces and turn on our men. This has created the problem of patrolling the border against bandits and the border patrol should be increased to such a size that our men would be able to handle the situation."

"Patrolmen usually are able to protect themselves against odds when they only have to contend with smugglers, but a combined force of smugglers and hijackers is usually too much for the two or three men."

MISSING GIRL
Ayer, July 22—Police today resumed their hunt for Veronica, 15, who has been missing from her home since Friday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Connors.

Her parents have a letter sent to the girl by a man from Camp Devens. They believe he may have had something to do with their daughter's disappearance. Veronica has been employed at a factory in Shirley, Mass., and learned that she gave up her employment there Thursday afternoon. Friday morning her mother sent her off to work with a lunch-box, as usual. The girl was seen in Shirley later in the forenoon, but did not return home that night.

Veronica is four feet, six inches tall, weighs 110 pounds and has blue eyes. When seen, she was wearing a blue skirt, novelty waist, black silk coat with cape collar, light stockings and black shoes with silver buckles.

Expect Dryest Place on Earth to Be Wet
Salt Lake City, July 22 (AP)—Two federal prohibition agents are convinced that the great Salt Lake desert is really a dry place. They roamed looking for a still and acquired a maddening thirst when their auto broke down and extended their trip to five days. The only liquid discoverable was rock's milk.

Col. Gallup Opens Inquiry as Seven of the Mounts Still Are Missing at Devens Camp Devens, July 22—While search for seven missing horses was continued today, Col. Dana T. Gallup, commanding the 11th Cavalry, announced he would make an official report on an attempt to place responsibility for abandonment of 42 horses when the 26th Division broke camp.

Thirty-five of the mounts, led by the cavalry outfit and turned loose by the division, were recovered, some of them badly cut and scratched, but the remaining seven have not been located. Col. Gallup, directing the search, expressed hope that the animals have been picked up by farmers, who are caring for them.

The missing horses were all in good condition, according to cavalrymen, some of them having been used as mounts by officers of command in the Yankee Division, and are valued at approximately $150 each.

Each horse is branded on the left fore hoof with the mark of the 11th Cavalry and the troop to which the animal was assigned. Col. Gallup said he holds a report for 42 horses, signed by Major Eugene A. Dowd, veterinarian of the 26th Division, which is an inspector of contagious diseases in animals for the city of Boston.

When the cavalry outfit arrived at Camp Devens, the 26th Division had left, and some of the horses were found in a corral, while others were in the woods. One was found in a field. The horses were the property of the 26th Division, had been removed and Major Dowd and other members of the regiment had gone.

Col. Gallup said he would file a report with Maj. Robert O. Dalton, chief of the division of property and equipment of the National Guard.

The meantime Lt.-Col. Porter B. Chase, assistant to the adjutant-general, said he had no official knowledge of the horses being ordered. In consequence he had no way of knowing where the horses were sent to infantry units and the supply officers of each regiment.

DRINKS LEFT, SO HE KILLS DAD FOR IT

Father and Son Have Merry Bout While the Liquor Lasts, Then—

Chicago, July 22 (INS)—Father and son sat down in their home Sunday afternoon to drink a bottle of moonshine whiskey, according to the story reconstructed today. They drank drink by drink, first father, then son. Finally only one drink remained.

"I am your father, I will take the drink," said Aleck Joscike, 44. "No, you've had enough already, I'll drink it," said Edward, 21. They came to blows.

Edward struck his father beneath the heart and the man fell. The youth drank the last drink and with other children in the room, dashed water on his father's face, thinking he had fainted. But Aleck Joscike was dead. Today the son faces possible murder charges.

Washington, July 22—President Hoover's law enforcement commission will meet here today to discuss the country still talking and disagreeing over the recent announcement of its chairman, George W.ickersham, suggesting further cooperation by states in enforcement of prohibition of national and state laws, about which controversy has centered. He has declined to commit in any way.

The meeting was to be rather a routine affair, with the commission chairmen, who have been called to the inquiry, but the Wickersham letter, which has drawn public attention only upon the prohibition phase of the investigation and upon the commission now will pursue.

Wickersham's statement was regarded generally as an outline of the agency of the commission, beneficent, so far as the prohibition inquiry is concerned, that is, it is a statement of the commission's attitude toward the States, rather than a statement of the commission's attitude toward the States, rather than a statement of the commission's attitude toward the States.

Methodists Upraid Non-Enforcing States
Washington, July 22—Though it proposed the general scheme offered by the States, the Methodist Board of Prohibition, Temperance and Public Morals, in a statement, holds that of such cooperation, if any developed, the federal government should continue its enforcement action.

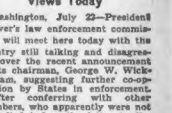

Without removing the broad powers of federal forces in enforcing the dry law, the board favors the general scheme offered by the States, but holds that it would draw away from their police facilities into enforcement. It requests that the States, however, the status of non-enforcing by states which have no local prohibition laws, and hold that these states, New York among them, should conform to the prohibition laws.

Husband Free in Death of His Wife
Judge Dwyer in municipal court today absolved John McGrath, applicant for South End, of any responsibility in the death of his wife, Jennie.

McGrath was arrested on a charge of assault and battery on his wife, but the jury found that he had been found guilty in their apartment. After her death an autopsy proved that her demise resulted from natural causes. McGrath's attorney informed the court today. The defendant was discharged.

WIDE INTEREST IN INCOME TAX FIGHT

Ranging from Boston to Baltimore, managers of 94 Left candy stores, co-operating with the Boston Evening American in its campaign to reduce federal income taxes, unanimously report amazing interest demonstrated by customers in affixing their signatures on "Sign and Save" petitions on display at the Left stores.

Left officials have forwarded to the American League for the Downward Revision of Federal Taxes on Earned Income, petitions containing 789 signatures, thus making a total of 2403 obtained by the Left chain in only a week of campaigning.

Left's enlistment in the crusade which has received nationwide support was obtained through the backing of Alfred R. Miller, president of the company. Not only have the employees of the factory in Long Island City signed the petition to Congress, but at Miller's orders, each store is displaying in a prominent place petitions with placards telling of the movement for the store patrons every where. Wage earners and professional men, housewives and business men, all joined in urging Congress to reduce the tax on earned income, commissions and fees.

Two Lucky Ones

MRS. CLAIRE GAFFNEY

ARTHUR CARAGIANIO
Mrs. Claire Gaffney, who gets $5 for a Lucky Bill.

4 MORE CASH IN "LUCKY" DOLLARS

By WON LUCKY BILL

If you think folks don't keep track of the Boston Evening American Lucky dollar bills you are all wrong. They do and here's the proof—four lucky bills actually hold over the week-end. And up to date $545 has been paid out to a lot of other fortunate ones, with $695 still roaming about waiting to be spotted.

ARTHUR CARAGIANIO, 218 Phoenix st., Dorchester, Mass., had an eye for Lucky dollar bills. He chased a bill in a department store in Lowell. His chase from a $5 bill included V-3431010, good for $100. The moral—there's joy as well as some tough wear in the bill.

MALLOY, 1125 Commonwealth ave., Allston, carried a list of Lucky dollar bills. He chased a bill in a department store in Lowell. His chase from a $5 bill included V-3431010, good for $100. The moral—there's joy as well as some tough wear in the bill.

MRS. CLAIR GAFFNEY, 3 Glen Ave., Roxbury, a matron at the Boston City Hotel, received a Lucky Bill A-9880555 in her handbag. It means an extra $4 for her this week. Three doors in the City of Boston.

There's a lot of folks who didn't do a thing to win a total of $115 except read the Boston Evening American's list of old Lucky Dollar bills and keep them close to the body. Every old bill that comes their way.

Easy way to make dough! I'll say it in. Just keep this in your "moodle"—there's still lots of old Lucky dollar bills floating around here and there and any old dollar bill you see may be one of them. It takes but a look-see to tell when you have a winner.

Now if you get a winner and you live outside of Boston, don't forget to drop the lucky bill in an envelope with a slip of paper with your full name and address on it and mail it to Lucky Money Game Editor, Boston American, Boston. Don't forget to register the letter for your own protection.

If you live in Boston bring the Lucky bill to the Boston Evening American office, 3 Winthrop sq., Room 203, and collect the unusual prize of either $100 for $1 or $1 for $1. I pay these dividends on all lucky dollar bills within one week from the date of the first publication of the number in the Boston Evening American.

Now if William McQuarrie, 179 Warren st., Roxbury, will call on me with proper identification I'll give him that $5 I owe him. McQuarrie brought in Lucky Bill A-3071622 last week while I was out for lunch. You know, folks, I eat once in a while. He couldn't wait, so he left the bill with my clerk. Now Bill comes in and gets his $5. I don't need it as I have plenty.

There's a lot more cash waiting for the lucky blunder who bring in those old Lucky dollar bills. Get into the game. Keep it and get yourself a winner.

Big Curtains in Maiden Flight

Roosevelt Field, L. I., July 22.—The new 18-passenger twin-engine Curtiss Condor, which is to be turned over to Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., for regular duty on its air-rail service between New York and Los Angeles, has made its first public appearance and the main cabin.

On this field. More than 100 persons, including officials of the Curtiss company, visiting engineers and pilots and other guests went for flight in the big plane. Five of these great planes are under construction in the Curtiss plant. Equipment has not yet been installed for the radio room, a small compartment between the pilot and the main cabin.

3 Die as Student Flyer Crashes Plane

Toledo, O., July 22.—From the charred wreckage of a Hispano-Suiza named biplane, Toledo aviation experts have pieced the story of how a student flyer's inexperience sent three men to their death five miles south of Perryburg. The victim, who burned in the plane which burst into flames upon hitting the ground, was identified as three Youngstown, O., men flying to Michigan on a fishing trip. They were James Detoch, 28; his son, Carl E. Detoch, 25; pilot of the plane, and Charles Jones, a flying instructor. The younger Detoch, whose flying record shows less than 10 hours in the air, lost control of the ship in a tail spin.

John Cotton Dana, Librarian, Dead
New York, July 22.—John Cotton Dana of Newark, N. J., nationally known librarian, died at St. Vincent's Hospital of acute toxemia which followed an operation he underwent some time ago. He was 72.

SEIZE BIG STILL AT ACTON

Acton, July 22.—Troopers of the State police, led by Sergt. William Puno, in charge of the Concord barracks, raided a barn on the property of Joseph McLaughlin on Conant st., setting a 1500-gallon still and much liquor-making equipment. McLaughlin, who was arrested on a charge of illegal manufacture of liquor, denied knowledge of the still. He showed the police a lease for the barn, telling them that he had let it to a couple of Boston men a few weeks ago when they came seeking a place to establish a poultry and egg business.

From Watch Tower

I gave up a little this week, but who cares when other items, far more prominent on the famous 15-day diet, are so abundant and reasonable? Cucumbers, big Boston lettuce, beets and carrots and green beans and peas are everywhere and was beans deserve special mention on the economical marketing list, and prairie pea, yellow summer squash is now abundant at 10c to 15c a pound.

Blueberries, extra large cultivated ones, are especially attractive in their calligraphic-covered boxes (the price is 40c). Quart boxes of the common garden variety are 40c to 50c and betwixt ourselves it's hard to tell the difference once they're stirred into a fluffy cake or flap-jacks. A few native Transparent apples have appeared upon the scene with others from Virginia and Delaware, at 10c a pound. Pass your plate for a second place at 10c.

Beef and lamb are still high, but who cares? For more interesting are native fresh killed broilers at 40c a pound for the two-pounders. Sardines, halibut, salmon and mackerel are all good fish news, and our magazine page this week will find new and interesting fish recipes to perfection.

THESE MACAROONS DAINTY WITH SUMMER BEVERAGES—MARTHA LEE

WHOLE WHEAT, SO NECESSARY IN BALANCED DIETS, FORMS THE FOUNDATION OF THESE LUSCIOUS CAKELETS

Eat Whole Wheat

"DARK bread and plenty of green vegetables"—hasn't that phrase a familiar ring? Of course it has since it's usually the Alpha or Omega of the family doctor's diet directions. And by dark bread is invariably meant whole wheat bread.

It is not only bread, however, that you can get your daily ration of this all-necessary whole wheat, reached in its vital vitamins and other necessary what-nots. The new wheat flakes which you see illustrated in the recipe pictured above contain whole wheat with all its bran.

And where can you find anything more crisply delicious for a hot-weather breakfast, luncheon or going-to-bed treat? Floated in cold milk and with a generous sprinkling of energy-giving sugar, these whole wheat flakes furnish needed fuel for our body engine without producing surplus heat.

WHEAT FLAKE MACAROONS
3 egg whites
1 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 c. coconut
3 c. wheat flakes
1/2 c. chopped nut meats

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add the sugar gradually. Then add the vanilla, coconut, wheat flakes and nut meats. Bake in a moderate oven, on cookie sheets, or wax paper. Remove the macaroons from the paper before they are entirely cold, to prevent sticking.

These are just the type of cakelets which the kiddie adores and which are so good for them, and yet which are dainty enough to set forth on a dolly and the best china to serve with fall, tinkling tumblers of iced summer beverages at porch parties.

Insulated Gas Range Has Superior Features

THE proud possessors of gas ranges equipped with insulated ovens point to the following 10 advantages of their range over the ordinary kind.

1—A cooler kitchen and home.—The insulated walls are heavily packed, keeping the heat where you want it—in the oven.

2—Increased economy.—Heat is kept where it is useful and no more is required than is necessary, thus giving the lowest cost of operation.

3—One quarter of the cooking without gas.—Because the insulated oven retains the heat so perfectly it is possible to turn the gas off when the work is three-quarters finished.

4—Uniform baking.—The insulated oven bakes evenly top and bottom.

5—Automatic cooking.—Fireless cooking improved! Because the automatic heat control insures even heat in the insulated ventilated oven.

6—Keeping the food hot.—Food will keep hot in the hot-holding oven without drying out. Home makers will appreciate this feature.

7—Less smoke and odors while broiling.—The insulated oven broiler will broil without the usual smoke or odors.

8—Less shrinkage of meats.—Quick, even searing retains the valuable meat juices, and shrinkage in weight is lessened.

9—Boiling in the oven.—There is greater economy and comfort in using the oven for boiling as well as baking.

10—Whole meal cooking.—Complete meals including soups, meat, vegetables, casserole dishes and puddings can be cooked at the same time.

Coffee Helps
To bring out the real coffee flavor, put the ground coffee in a saucepan and let it heat in a fairly hot oven for 3 minutes just before making.

Boil strong borax water in your coffee pot frequently to keep it immaculately clean. Always warm the pot before using. When the coffee is ready, pour a little cold water down the spout to settle it.

NEW USE FOR PAPER PLATE
When you have a paint job under way, try pasting a paper plate under the paint can. The plate catches all drippings, and the can may be safely moved from place to place.

CHERRY FRUIT FOR THE LANKY PARTY
3 pkgs. cherry fresh-fruit gelatin
3 cups boiling water
5 cups crushed ice and ice water
1 cup chopped stoned cherries
1/2 pt. vanilla ice cream

Turn gelatin into a bowl. Add boiling water. When dissolved add the ice and ice water. Then add the cherries and ice cream by tablespoonfuls. Stir until well mixed and frosted and serve at once.

Tips on Tea Making

1 Use absolutely fresh water.

Water boiled and rebolled tastes flat. Empty the tea kettle and refill with fresh water just before starting to make your tea.

2 Be sure that the water is actually boiling when the tea is made (this means bubbling vigorously).

Ten made with water before the boiling point loses much of its flavor.

3 Use a non-metallic teapot. Tea absorbs metallic flavors which detract from its delicate aroma and flavor.

4 Do not let the tea steep longer than 3 to 5 minutes and never let it boil.

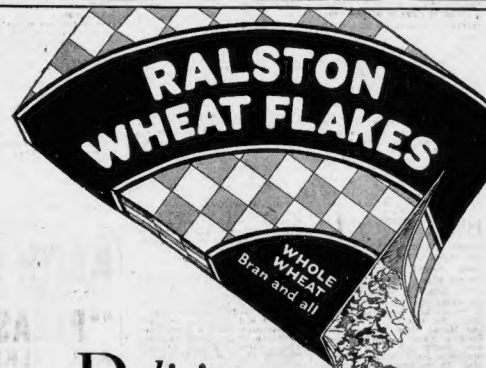

5 A tea cozy quilted cover to fit over entire teapot is helpful in keeping the tea hot during the meal.

6 To make iced tea, make hot tea infusion of extra strength and pour, while hot, over a plentiful supply of ice cubes, and serve immediately.

Essex Tennis Tournery Attracts Society

National Stars in
Matches at North
Shore Sport
Mecca

SOME BRILLIANT EVENT is always bobbing up on the social horizon along the North Shore and at various other fashionable playgrounds where the gay whirl never lags in the glorious summertime. This week it is the tennis tournament, which opened today at the Essex County Club, that brings notable men from far and near to grace the al fresco luncheon to be given for all the players by Mrs. Joseph Letter on Wednesday. Edgewater House at Beverly Farms will be the scene of this smart gathering. Miss Helen Jacobs, Miss Edith Cross, Miss Margaret Morrill, Miss Ethel Burkhardt, the Pacific Coast champion, Miss Josephine Cruikshank, Miss Margaret Gladman of California and Miss Dorothy Andrus of Philadelphia are among the prominent stars of the courts who are sought by several hostesses during the week.

MISS MORRILL INAUGURATES the several informal affairs already planned with a luncheon tomorrow at the Morrill estate, Sandy Hollow, Manchester, where many of her Boston friends will welcome her home from tennis triumphs abroad. Mrs. A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, and Miss Edith Cross are house guests at Sandy Hollow during the tournament events. Miss Eleanor Holton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Holton of Phillips Beach, Swampscott, is to be another hostess to the queens of the net at a dinner tomorrow evening. Miss Vivian Kendall, daughter of the Waldo Kendalls of Annisquam and Marlborough at, is having Miss Grace Minot as her house guest, and Mrs. William Endicott is entertaining Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer, Mrs. L. A. Harper, Mrs. Franklin G. Mallory, Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiers and Miss Eleanor Goss.

ON THURSDAY THE NAHANT CLUBS began the Mecca for the elite who will greet Princess Michael Cantacuzene (Clarissa Curtis) at an informal luncheon party. The princess arrived from Chicago Saturday to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pelham Curtis, for the remainder of the summer. With her is young Prince Rodion, the year-old heir of the Prince and Princess Michael. Mrs. Curtis Gault is the child's godmother. Mrs. John LaVelle is to entertain for the Princess Cantacuzene at a luncheon at her home on Friday. And since it is definitely decided that Mr. and Mrs. H. Pelham Curtis (Helen Curtis) whose wedding was a brilliant social event in May in New York, are to spend August at the Curtis place in Nahant, all sorts of plans are already under way for entertaining them delightfully.

ARRANGING CHARITY functions seems to provide an almost constant source of pleasure to members of every smart group. At the moment, one of the outstanding charitable functions engaging the interest of the Newport colony is the presentation of a series of tableaux called, "The Masterpieces, on Aug. 6. Attractive matrons and their daughters are to pose for these for the benefit of the Newport County League for Animals. County society is to be represented by Anne de Mendoncel, Miss Kismet de Mendoncel, Miss Edith Cross and Miss Lillian Moriart. Mrs. Lewis A. Arnold, Mrs. G. Anderson Moriart and Mrs. Henry Ware Putnam are among the Boston patronesses. Mrs. Marjorie Van derbilt Church is assisting in staging the affair. The Bar Harbor colony is busily promoting a Bohemian cabaret and fancy dress ball for the evening of Aug. 6, with Miss Winifred Thordike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill Thordike of Marlborough st., acting as treasurer, and her sister, Mrs. Charles B. Delahfield, in charge of the supper. The Bar Harbor Hospital is to be enriched by this entertainment.

EVEN THE SMARTEST children find that obliging admission to their parties for the benefit of some worthy cause offers opportunities for happy gatherings and much approval from everybody. Thus the annual fair of the Driestwood Club for Cohasset skippers raced for aquatic honors last Saturday in their Cape Cod knockabouts. Although first honors were not theirs, Christine Reid and Alice Means of young girls at Marblehead assumed dignity and importance, since it is to be given this year on July 30 for the maintenance of the club's special project, the swimming pool in the children of the Catholic Island Sanatorium. Catherine Tappan, the sub-deb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Tappan, is president of the club. A fair and cabaret is planned by the Cohasset club to be given next Friday at St. Stephen's Church. Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Robert Goss and Mrs. William C. Hays in charge. Disabled ex-servicemen are among those for whom society matrons work this week. A sale of articles from the exchange will be held in the Municipal Hall, Manchester, Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

ONE OF THE 1920-30 GROUP is eagerly anticipating the coming dance to be given for the benefit of the Newport colony by her grand-sister Mrs. William H. Moore of New York, at her summer estate, Rockmore, Prides Crossing, on August 16. This dance is to be held in the large carriage room of the estate which once housed the famous horses of the late Mrs. Moore. This party will be one of the important events of the North Shore season, with the attendance of the cream of Boston and New York society debuts. Miss Moore moves in the social charmed circles, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore. She will undoubtedly attract the attention of the debutants party in Boston next winter.

AUGUST 17 IS AN UNDERSCORED date on the calendar of the horse-loving set, for it marks the close of entries for the Cohasset Horse Show at the beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft. The show is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24, and entries are coming in thick and fast to Arthur H. Lovey, East Milton, in charge of registration. Mr. Bancroft is chairman of the executive committee. Mrs. William B. Long is showing a hunter, Mrs. Thomas M. James, two jumpers, Miss Betty and Patricia Bird, their prize winners, and the Harold P. Tolman and reared themselves proud. These girls are ardent devotees of water sports and have eagerly pursued the racing courses since the Cohasset Yacht Club regatta.

LOAN DEMANDS NOVELIST OFF BOARD

Washington, July 22.—As the farm board is preparing to define its program to lend money to the farmers through the co-operatives it finds itself beset with a demand for immediate aid from the citrus operators while the wheat farmers are criticizing it for not backing arrangements without delay to finance the wheat co-operatives for the fall crop development.

The demand for federal financial aid flooded the board before it was able to digest fully the farm relief measure and raise its head above the thicket of its proposals.

These requests have come from individual farmers in such numbers that the clerical force has not been able to write replies. In order to stop this rush of letters from those who do not know the terms of the law, Alexander Legge, president of the board, announced last week that loans could be made only to co-operative associations. He said that at present only one-third of the 6,000,000 farmers were members of such associations and that nonmembers must become aligned with the association before aid can be assured them.

Leave For Teachers Wins Approval

Now that a resolution introduced by Mrs. Otto Kahn of New York city, chairman of education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has been passed that proposes a sabbatical leave for school teachers, these matters of youth and character will have added opportunity to travel and gain broad experience.

The plan of granting a leave of absence for study and travel or for restoration of health, has long been in operation in many American colleges, universities and normal schools, Mrs. Kahn states.

"The trend of modern educational progress is to grant similar leaves for all teachers and supervisors in the secondary and elementary schools, making this beneficial plan universal in the school system."

The plan designs a leave of absence for travel or study to be granted to teachers and members of the supervising staff for a period not exceeding one year, after at least seven years of continuous service in the schools. Teachers who are out on such leave of absence will be required to report regularly to the superintendents as they are employing their leave.

During the leave the teacher will receive half pay in some cases; in others, as in New York, the substitute is paid a sum deducted from the absent teacher's salary.

providing for the teacher's rest and restoration to health, when worn out from overwork and long years of service, by renewing the enthusiasm of teachers and by providing training for prospective teachers will fill this plan real fruitful results. Another incentive will have been offered to men and women of high ability and character to enter the profession and many new give up teaching with great loss to the community will have remained in the ranks.

"The community will get its money's worth. The adoption of the sabbatical leave plan will result in improved conditions in the schools."

Essex Tennis Tournney Attracts Society

National Stars in
Matches at North
Shore Sport
Mecca

SOME BRILLIANT EVENT is always bubbling up on the social horizon along the North Shore and at various other fashionable playgrounds where the gay whirl must never lag in the glorious summertime. This week it is the tennis tournament, which opened today at the Essex County Club, that brings notice from far and near to grace the al fresco luncheon to be given for all the players by Mrs. Joseph Lutter on Wednesday. Edgewater House at Beverly Farms will be the scene of this smart gathering. Miss Helen Jacobs, Miss Edith Cross, Miss Marjorie Morrill, Miss Ethel Burkhardt, the Pacific Coast champion, Miss Josephine Cruikshank, Miss Marjorie Gladman of California and Miss Dorothy Andrus of Philadelphia are among the prominent stars of the courts who are sought by several hostesses during the week.

MISS MORRILL INAUGURATES the several informal affairs already planned with a luncheon tomorrow at the Morrill estate, Sandy Hollow, Manchester, where many of her Boston friends will welcome her home from tennis triumphs abroad. Mrs. A. H. Chapin, Jr. of Springfield, and Miss Edith Cross are house guests at Sandy Hollow during the tournament events. Miss Eleanor Holton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Holton of Phillips Beach, Swampscott, is to be another hostess to the guests of the net at a dinner tomorrow evening. Miss Vivian Kendall, daughter of the Walter Kendall of Annapolis and Marlborough, is to be having Miss Grace Minot as her house guest, and Mrs. William Endicott is entertaining Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer, Mrs. L. A. Harper, Mrs. Franklin O. Mallory, Mrs. J. Dallas Corbier and Miss Eleanor Gore.

ON THURSDAY THE NAHANT CLUB becomes the Mecca for the elite who will greet Princess Micaela Centauro (Clarissa Curtis) at an informal luncheon party. The princess arrived from Chicago Saturday to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pelham Curtis, for the remainder of the summer. With her is young Prince Rodion, the year-old heir of the Prince and Princess Michael, Mrs. Curtis Guild is the child's godmother. Mrs. John Leveille is to entertain for the Princess, Centauro, at a smart luncheon at her home on Friday. And since it is definitely decided that Mr. and Mrs. H. Pelham Curtis (Helen Curtis, whose wedding was a brilliant social event in May in New York, are to spend August at the Curtis place in Nahant, all sorts of parties are already under way for entertaining them delightfully.

ARRANGING CHARITY functions seems to provide an almost constant source of pleasure to members of every smart group. At the moment, one of the outstanding charity functions engaging the interest of the Newport colony is the presentation of a series of tableaux called, "The Masterpieces, on Aug. 6. Attractive matrons and their daughters are to pose for these for the benefit of the Newport County League for Annals. Boston society is to be represented by Mrs. Daniel de Minot, Miss Renee de Minot, Miss Edith Cram and Miss Lilias Mortier. Mrs. Lewis A. Arnold, Mrs. Andrew Mortier and Mrs. Henry Ware Putnam are among the Boston patronesses. Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church is assisting in staging the affair. The Bar Harbor colony is busily promoting a Bohemian cabaret and fancy dress ball for the evening of Aug. 6, with Mrs. Winifred Thorndike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike of Marlborough st., acting as treasurer and her sister, Mrs. Charles B. Deland, in charge of the supper. The Bar Harbor Hospital is to be enriched by this entertainment.

EVEN THE SMART set children find that charging admission to their parties for the benefit of some worthy cause offers opportunities for happy gatherings and much approval from everybody. Thus the annual sale of the Driftwood Club

Jar Cohasset skippers raced for aquatic honors last Saturday in their Cape Cod knockabouts. Although first honors were not theirs, Christine Reid and Alice Means raced themselves proud. These girls are ardent devotees of water sports and have eagerly pursued the racing courses since the Cohasset Yacht Club regatta.

Many young girls at Marblehead assume dignity and importance, since it is to be given on July 30 for the maintenance of the club's special project, the swimming pool in the children of the Catholic Island Sanatorium. Catherine Tappan, the sub-deb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Tappan of Overlook at Peach's Point, Marblehead, is president of the club. A fair and cabaret is planned by the Cohasset club to be given next Friday at St. Stephen's Church. Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Robert Condy and Mrs. William C. Fox in charge. Disabled ex-servants are among those for whom society matrons work this week. A sale of articles from the exchange will be held in Bismarck Hall, Manchester, Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

BUT OF THE 1929-30 GROUP has eagerly anticipating the debut dance to be given for Mrs. Fanny Moore by her grand-daughters, Mrs. William H. Moore of New York, at her summer home, Rockmar, Pelee's Crossing, on August 16. This dance was staged in romantic setting in the large carriage room of a stable which once housed the famous horses of the late Mrs. Moore. This party will be one of the important events of the month. In connection with the unveiling of the cream of Boston and New York society debutantes, Miss Moore moves in Gotham's charming circles, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ware, she will undoubtedly attract the attention of the debutante parties in Boston next winter.

AUGUST 17 IS AN UNDERSCORED date on the calendar of the horse-loving set, for it marks the close of the season for the Cohasset Horse Show at the beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft. The show is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24, and is coming in thick and fast to Arthur H. Lovey, East Milton, in charge of registration. Mr. Bancroft is chairman of the executive committee. Mrs. William B. Long is showing a hunter, Mrs. Thomas M. James, two jumpers, Misses Betty and Patricia Bird, their prize winners, and the Harold F. Tolman and many others, their favorites. Among the several coveted trophies to be won is a new challenge cup in the hunter class, given by William J. Davidson. Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft are contributors of awards, as are Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer, Miss Muriel Crocker, Arthur Miliken, Mrs. William Gagebin, young Barbara Baldwin and others. This show grows increasingly popular every year and this time more than 40 classes are to be shown.

SCARCELY A LINER arrives on foreign shores without Boston society representatives sent on its passenger list. Word comes of the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner H. Fluke and of Mrs. and Mrs. Robert L. Bacon with their daughter in Europe vacation-bound to many scenes Mr. Amory A. Lawrence, a son of Mrs. John R. Lawrence of Topfield, and Nelson W. Aldrich of Peach's Point, Marblehead, are also recent arrivals abroad with continental touring on their itinerary. Mr. Lawrence is a nephew of Percy Atchison of the American embassy in London.

WOLLASTON BATTEERS IMPERILED AS SPEED BOAT RUNS WILD

PILOT THROWN OUT DURING RACE

Score in Path of Speeding Craft Hastily Swims for Safety

Score of batteau at Wollaston beach had narrow escape when a motor boat, throttle wide open and no one aboard, came whirling at them.

The momentum of the speeding boat carried it 20 feet on the sand before it came to a stop. Several hundred persons were bathing or reclining on the sand.

This was one of several incidents that marred the annual motor boat races of the Quincy Bay Speed Boat Association, but it was the most serious.

The boat was the Baby Whale, piloted by Frank Myers. On the final turn of the two-mile course in front of the Wollaston Yacht Club, the steering gear broke and Myers was thrown out of the craft, which headed directly for the bathers.

Members of the yacht club shouted warnings and alarm on the beach. The launch screamed batteau in the path of the away boat swim in desperate haste to get out of its way. Those lying on the sand jumped to their feet and made a wild scramble for safety. A father lifted his son in his arms and ran, just in the nick of time, as the boat slid up on the beach.

The motor continued to run wild and sent forth a cloud of smoke until one of the men bathers shot it off.

Myers had tried to shut off the motor as he was thrown out of the boat, and it appeared that he was successful in his effort. But the boat had not gone more than 50 yards before the throttle opened up and the craft, speeding at 30 miles an hour, headed for the beach.

It was fortunate that it was fortunate that the boat kept a straight course, for if it had veered some of the bathers probably would have been hit.

POSTAL CLERKS NOT IN LINE FOR RAISE

Union Officials Warn of False Hopes; Prepare for Convention

Pres. John A. Kelley and Rec. A. J. J. of the Boston Local 100 of the National Federation of Postal Clerks issued a warning to the rank and file of clerks employed in a Boston postal district to have no hopes of an automatic salary increase if the business of the district passes the $2,000,000 mark in 1921.

The union was startled among employees that with the business reaching the above figure the district would go into a higher classification which would carry any increase to the employees. The district received $1,722,775, and with the business for this year exceeding the figure for last year, a new classification and higher salary began to be before the clerks.

According to the officers of Local 100, the salary for assistant postmasters, the superintendent of cashiers and other officials will increase $200 under a higher classification, but no provision is made for rank and file. It was stated that the possibility exists for raising the regular clerks' wages.

Arrangements have been made for the reception and entertainment of the delegates, who will attend the 10th annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation of Post Office Clerks, to be held at the Hotel Paramount, Boston, next Thursday.

The delegates, who are not members of the district committee, will attend the local convention at Fenway Park, Saturday, and in the evening will be guests of the Boston members at a vaudeville entertainment and athletic contest at the Rialto.

Two business executives will be held at the Rialto. Henry I. J. of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, and George W. Washington, D. C., president of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, will be the main attraction and address a delegate.

Milton's tax rate for 1921 has been set at $27.50 per $100. "This is an increase of 60 cents over last year and equals the previous high record rate made in 1918."

The increase is due to the items of expense which were not known to the warrant committee when it made the estimate of income and expense for the year last closed. One of these items is the charge of $1,174.26 as Milton's share of the cost of the Cottage Farm bridge as determined by a commission this year.

HURLS DEFI AT AUDITORS OF STATE

Everett Official Says Dedication Expenses Will Come Out of Mayor's Fund

A sensation was created at the dedication exercises of Simon Steiner sq. Everett, when Assessor Joseph Kaplan, presiding officer, announced that the expenses for the occasion would come from the mayor's confidentially account and that the State auditors to offer criticism.

He declared that no one would dare make political propaganda out of such an expenditure. He lauded the mayor for being the Jewish people of East Everett commensurate two of the farthest East Everett houses in the World War. The cost of the city's part in the observance will be $4,000.

Without Mayor Reo's assistance," declared Kaplan, "the Jewish people would never be dedicating a park and a square in this district today. He has rendered us very help, and I assure him publicly that the 1100 Jewish families of Everett are behind him every day."

Simon Steiner, for whom the square was named, was a quiet man who abhorred the destroyer Jacob Jans which was torpedoed off the Irish coast. He was cast into the sea and, although badly injured, refused to endanger the lives of his comrades by boarding any of the heavily loaded life rafts. When the square was dedicated in honor of Jacob Jans, who was killed in action at Chemus des Dunes. He was 18 years of age.

Old Boston in Pictures—No. 10

JUST imagine selling vegetables at Boston and Washington sts. today. This picture, Boston in 1857, proves that the corner was a market more than 60 years ago. Note the gentleman in the "stopper," but buying his cabbage. That building on the right is old Blythton Hall, opened in 1810, just before the War of 1812. The picture depicts the Old Blythton market which opened operations in 1810. If you look closely, you'll note that "second floor up" tailors were in style in those days. Readers who have pictures of Boston as it used to be are invited to submit them to the Picture Editor, Boston Evening American, Boston. The series of Old Boston scenes will be continued by this newspaper until further notice.

Sox Open Home Stay With St. Louis Browns Tomorrow

CARRIGAN CLAN BESET BY HARD LUCK ON ROAD

By JOE CASHMAN

THERE is no baseball in Boston today. The Sox are on their way to Cleveland, where the Braves, under the leadership of Rabbit Maranville, are headed in the general direction of Cincinnati. The Carrigan open their second home stand against the Western club tomorrow. Their first opponents will be the St. Louis Browns, strongest of the quartet from the far west.

Twelfth Dan Howley's young men will remain in our midst for three days and will be followed by the Detroit Tigers, who will be at one game on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Next Monday will be another off day, the Sox resting up for the visit of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox, each of which will be of three-day duration. It is a badly battered outfit that Manager Bill Carrigan is leading back to town. The recent fault around the circuit, which took the natives in every corner stronghold except Washington was a most disastrous one.

They didn't win a single series, losing to the Yankees, Athletics, Indians and Tigers, and White Sox and splitting even with the Browns.

All told, they played nineteen games and won but four of them. Manager Carrigan isn't offering any hint for that, but he is. He readily admits that his charges were bad on the road.

STILL in justice to Bill and his club, it must be recorded that they experienced far more than their share of tough luck on the trail, and that in spite of it, they would have come pretty close to breaking even on the trip had fortune been kinder. Bill Rogers was lost to the club all during the journey. Big Ed Morris had to be sent home with a cold and Jack Rothrock, Bill Jarvis, Tex Willard and Babe Revere were out of the lineup at some time or other.

In face of such misfortune which would discourage and nearly wreck most clubs, the Sox fought to the limit in every contest and lost no less than eight of them by a single run.

Crippled as they were, had luck played fair and enabled them to win just half of those close battles for percentages for the team would have been almost 50.

At full strength, which they will be to start their home stay, according to latest reports, the Sox will be in line to win. They are in line to win. They may get out of the cellar although they are further removed from seventh place today than at any time previously this season.

THE efforts of the Braves in the West, under the guidance of Rabbit Maranville, will be followed with the greatest of interest by Boston fans.

They are not only hoping, but betting, as well, that the midwest will make good.

At least, the surprisingly large crowd of 20,000 who saw him start off by leading the Tribe in a double win over the Cards in the Sunday (win) will be an encouraging sign.

The team never looked better and were nothing short of champions when they won their initial and scored three runs in the ninth to take the final contest, so it is only natural that those present are confident that the game's best shortstop will become one of the season's best managers.

But managing and playing are two very different colors, as any number of former star players can tell you.

You can be a great shortstop if you possess individual ability. All the individual ability in the world will not bring you a success as a pilot unless you have enough good players at your command.

The Rabbit has yet to prove he has the ability to manage the club and has not sufficient material to gain much benefit, even if he personally can meet the many requirements of the job.

guarantee him a permanent berth in his old days.

BUT he can't do it with the resources at hand.

Judge Fuchs and Johnny Evers must dig up some promising timber on their trip through the states, if the Rabbit is to have an outside chance to succeed.

He must have time, too. Ball clubs aren't built in a day, a week, a month or, ordinarily, in a season.

He isn't going to accomplish any miracles in the West, and must be judged by the showing of the club in the next fortnight, something the fans will be inclined to do.

Give him time and material, however, and he should fill the bill most acceptably.

Lally Wins Over Saunders at Golf

JACKSON, N. H., July 22.—In an exhibition match played on the Westworth Hall golf course here, defeated Fred Saunders of Gray's Inn, eight and seven. Several hundred witnessed the match in which Lally scored 67 against his opponent's 77.

FRISBY TO EXPLAIN "DEBENTURE" TO FARMERS

FARGO, Minn., July 22.—A man Frisby arrived here last night to sell dictionaries to farmers. "The debenture plan failed," he said, "because nobody understood what the word debenture meant. I will make a house to house call, spending a day or two if necessary with an attractive live preparation."

At a very small cost, I will kiss babies. My dictionary is especially designed for ready reference, and to avoid confusion, merely gives the definition of the one word—debenture."

Mr. Volva, back from a tour of Egypt and Europe, says he is more convinced than ever that the world is flat.

Certainly, anybody just home from a tour of Europe is apt to be flat.

The world wouldn't be so flat if it were not for the tipping evil.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL (Glamor, Mr. Democrat)

Sheriff Noble has had a second wire put on the fence about the courthouse yard to protect the hedge. The boys were bending under the one wire and going through the hedge. It is believed this second wire will make it so tedious they'll quit cutting across and go on the walks.

Oh, the critic lingers! With a gusto and a flare, he skims a page or maybe two. Then writes columns of inform you how the book will or will not do. Whether reading it will bring you joy or pain.

Which proves a lot or nothing? For, although he's only bluffing, you'll concede the guy's a very clever boy.

New England League Notes

By CHARLES HOFFMAN

Lynn and Lewiston played before a crowd of 2000 people in a doubleheader at the Lynn Stadium. The Lynn won the first game, 13 to 1, and tied the second, 3 to 3.

The Lynn sluggers batted three pitchers all over the lot in the first game, their hits including a home run by Dwyer and Melton, and a triple by Dugan with three on. Rollo Finn, who held the Lynn champs to four hits, Friday was not so successful and was batted out of the box in the fourth inning. After the sixth Walter Stowers just coasted along to an easy win.

The second game was a pitcher's battle between Parker Twombly and Frank Schmidt, each allowing six hits. Lynn had a great chance to win in the seventh and last inning when Phelan singled and Stowers sacrificed. Dwyer hit .300.

Lynn has now won seven games out of the last eight, including two doubleheaders.

Douglas and Spear can now be safely called the doubleheader pitching pair. Last week they beat Nashua and Portland in twin bills.

Only two games are on the list for today, Lynn going to Nashua, and Lewiston traveling to Manchester.

The first test of 35-cent baseball will be tried out Tuesday when Lewiston comes for a doubleheader.

Rock Freeman of the St. Louis scout, is still following the Lynn club around the circuit.

New Bedford is leading the circuit in club batting but by a small margin of one point over Brockton. The Whalers mark is .307.

Lynn is a close third with .300. Bill Lehman, New Bedford third-sacker, is still leading the sluggers with an average of .417, but Russ Saunders of Portland is batting .406.

PENN FOOTBALL STARTS SEPT. 3

It's all in Chesterfield, because the good tobaccos are blended and cross-blended, the standard Chesterfield method. One rule governs every step:
